

HONORS COLLEGE SEMINARS
SPRING 2012

- UNV 200H Honors Service Learning 1 hour credit Davy/ Duncan
This seminar requires the student to reflect on the volunteer service he/she has given and the learning that resulted from that service. Students should have completed some hours of community service prior to enrolling in the class.
Thurs. 12:30 p.m. & Mon. 3:00 p.m. Du Bois
- UNV 290H1 Eating for a Healthy You 1 hour credit Cuker & Penn-Marshall
In this seminar students will investigate the impact of dietary choices on their own health and well being as well as that of the environment. Some topics that will be addressed are obesity and diabetes epidemics in the African American community, the role of fast-food in the American diet, alternative ways of eating for health and environmental sustainability, the link between poverty and malnutrition.
Mon. 4:00 p.m. Du Bois
- UNV 290H2 Sports and Society 1 hour credit Watson
This seminar will focus on the importance of sports to society from an economic, political, and social perspective.
Wed. 4:00 p.m. Du Bois
- UNV 290 H3 From Street Lit to EBook 1 hour credit Walker
This seminar will explore a wide range of topics that are shaping the current publishing environment. Students will be asked to consider not only the future of the book publishing industry but also how those issues directly impact the African-American community
Mon. 4:00 p.m. Du Bois
- UNV 290 H4 Getting Your Point Across: Argumentation and Debate 1 hour credit Davy
In this seminar, students will take a cross disciplinary approach towards addressing a variety of topics using logic, persuasion, argumentation, debate. The intent is for students to practice the art of presenting a solid case with sound arguments.
Tues. 5:00 p.m. Du Bois
- UNV 290 H5 Political Cartooning 1 hour credit Dawkins
Political cartoons -- Is there anyone who should be exempt from their sting? Are they effective? Racially biased? Fair? The participants in this seminar will seek to answer these questions and more.
Wed. 4:00 p.m. Du Bois
- UNV 290 H6 Defining Your Career 1 hour credit Samuel
Today, one's major discipline does not necessarily define or limit a person's career. Many recent breakthroughs in science and technology come from seemingly unrelated disciplines. The participants in this seminar will explore POSSIBILITIES, but equally as important, they will have the opportunity to pursue lucrative internships.

- UNV 300 H1 Honors Junior Prep 1 hour credit Duncan
 In this seminar, students will investigate resources and sharpen skills that are required to become marketable and successful in securing entry and financing for graduate studies and/or the upper echelons of the workforce.
 TBA Du Bois
- UNV 390 H1 Values and Ethics 1 hour credit Prater
 In this seminar participants will use The Lone Ranger's Code of the West, an action-packed adventure in values and ethics with the legendary champion of justice, to address individual responsibility, communication and team performance. This seminar will take an entertaining but pragmatic approach to ethics.
 Tues. 5:00 p.m. Du Bois
- UNV 390H2 If They Come in the Morning 1 hour credit Locke
 This seminar will examine race relations in the 21st century. What does Jim Crow's off-springs look like today? Are race relations really better now?
 Mon. 4:00 p.m. Armstrong 127
- UNV 390H3 Hip Hop Music: It's more than just Rap 1 hour credit Duncan
 This seminar will provide an opportunity for students to develop a broader perspective and understanding of Hip Hop music through the exploration of its' history, shaping contexts, evolution and social impact.
 Thur. 5:00 p.m. Du Bois
- UNV 390H4 Getting Ready for Life 1 hour credit Arnold
 In this seminar students will explore vital issues such as how to purchase a home, the importance of your credit report, the cost of health care, job benefits, and other issues that may thwart or boost one's success after college.
 Mon. 5:00 p.m. Du Bois
- UNV 390H5 The Meeting Will Come to Order: Parliamentary Procedures 1 hour credit Davy
 This seminar will introduce the participants to the basic parliamentary procedures that are needed for effective meetings. Seminar activities are particularly designed not only for those who wish to become skillful leaders but also savvy members of a group.
 Tues. 4:00 p.m. Du Bois
- UNV 390H6 Corporate Games: Bridge 1 hour credit Davy
 Building on the cardinal principle - "the wise use of leisure time," the participants in this seminar will learn to play Bridge.
 Thurs 6-8 p.m. Du Bois
- UNV 390 H7 Nature or Nurture: The Affects of Family 1 hour credit Grambrell-Boone
 Using Daniel Black's novel Perfect Peace, the participants in this seminar will examine the characters, their home environment, and how they negotiate their complex relationships along with the complexities of the Southern experience.
 Thurs. 4:00 p.m. Du Bois

UNV 400H Honors Capstone Colloquium 1 - 3 hours credit Davy
This seminar is for seniors who are completing requirements for graduation with Honors
College endorsement.
TBA Du Bois